Well Done!

As you know, we had some very special visitors at Mayflower this week. They came to inspect our school. Although we won't have the report for a few weeks, we are very pleased with the feedback. The inspectors were very impressed with the learning behaviour at Mayflower, and the skilful support they receive from our talented staff. They commented on pupils welcome and excellent manners and their enthusiasm for learning, particularly reading. Pupils talked about how much they enjoy their learning, about the exciting visits they go on and how visits and visitors inspire their learning. We really look forward to sharing the full report with you. Thank you for making sure you arrived early for school, let's keep it up!! In the gate by a quarter to 9. Then you know you'll be fine.

P4C

As part of Philosophy for Children lessons, (P4C) Riley Class has been deepening their thinking and learning about what you can achieve regardless of your age or gender. They were able to share their ideas and find out what other children in their class think. What has your class been discussing in P4C?

You could share your ideas with your family over the weekend.

Partner Learning

Partner classes have been working together to support each other with learning times tables. Older pupils from Hockney class had to find effective ways to teach younger children. This helps them become better learners and also helps Ray class learn their times tables! A win win for everyone! Ask your teacher about partner class learning.
